For Free Fall 2018, Make Studio presented Cordially Invited, a first-of-its-kind in Baltimore invitational exhibition and set of programming featuring artworks created in more than a dozen innovative U.S. and international studios that serve artists with disabilities. Through the month of October, Cordially Invited celebrated the exciting and thought-provoking art produced in progressive art studios with a central exhibition in Make Studio’s Showroom Gallery, a satellite of smaller “pop-up” art displays in partnering venues, and also an online gallery, allowing international programs from Scotland, Australia and Japan to participate.

“Oil paint is life!”
- Aimee Eliason

UPDATE

In October, Terrault Gallery hosted the exhibition “Dress Up and Disco Color”, a collaboration with Make Studio. Works by Alex Albert, Clara Baken, Tony Labate, Kareem Samuels, Margie Smeller, and Jerry Williams painted a portrait of the aesthetics, passion, and vibrancy of artists commonly typed as “outsiders”, highlighting the observations and points-of-view of these artists and artists alike to increase the inclusivity in the arts sector in Baltimore and beyond.

“I enjoy places like Make Studio because you can be yourself and do your own thing with your art. No one is going to judge you. My best advice: Be You.”
- Tyrone Weedon
